Pre-Admission Counseling Process

CII-2

Objective:

This report details the pre-admission counselling efforts conducted to assist prospective students in making informed choices about enrolling in the college.

Visit to Nearby Government Senior Secondary Schools (GSSS):

The college team conducted visits to nearby Government Senior Secondary Schools (GSSS) to inform and counsel prospective students about available courses, career opportunities, and the benefits of continuing higher education. During these visits, the team interacted with students, providing insights into the college's programs and answering questions on topics such as subject choices and academic support. These school visits also helped establish a direct connection with students, especially those from underrepresented backgrounds, encouraging them to consider college education.

Telephonic Contact with Students:

Following the school visits, telephonic outreach was conducted with students who expressed interest in joining the college. This one-on-one telephonic contact provided a personal touch, allowing students and their families to ask questions, to discuss specific concerns, including financial aid, course structure, and career prospects. This step proved effective in providing tailored guidance and clarifying doubts, enhancing students' confidence in their decision to pursue higher education.

Information on Website:

The college website was updated to serve as an informative resource for pre-admission counseling. A dedicated section on the site provided comprehensive information on available programs, admission criteria, support services, and answers to frequently asked questions. The website served as an easily accessible platform for prospective students and parents to explore details and resources about the college, supporting an informed and smooth application process.

College Notice board

A dedicated space on the college notice board was set up to display all relevant information on admissions, courses, and counseling schedules. Notices were regularly updated to reflect the latest dates, eligibility requirements, and any changes in the admission process.

Admission Prospectus:

The admission prospectus included detailed information about the college's offerings, from course descriptions to student support services and extracurricular activities. It was distributed in digital and physical formats, making it readily available to students during counseling visits and through the college website. The prospectus emphasized the college's commitment to fostering a supportive learning environment, motivating students to consider it as a viable choice for their academic future.

Conclusion:

A dedicated space on the college notice board was set up to display all relevant information on admissions, courses, and counseling schedules. Notices were regularly updated to reflect the latest dates, eligibility requirements, and any changes in the admission process.

Cleanliness and Awareness Drive for Health and Wellness

Organising Body: Rover Ranger Unit, GDC Majheen

The Rover Ranger Unit of Government Degree College (GDC) Majheen conducted a community outreach programme, consisting of a focused cleanliness drive and a public health awareness campaign in the neighboring Saravnati Village. The initiative was undertaken with the following objectives:

- To physically clean and sanitize key public areas within the village.
- To educate local villagers on the direct correlation between sanitation, hygiene, and mental and physical wellness.
- To foster a sense of civic responsibility and sustainable cleanliness practices among the community members.

Leadership and Coordination

The entire programme was successfully executed under the esteemed guidance and motivation of the college principal, Dr. Chandan Bhardwaj. Dr. Bhardwaj highlighted the college's role in social responsibility and encouraged the Rover Rangers to be proactive agents of change in local communities.

The Rover Ranger Unit, meticulously planned the logistics, resource allocation, and communication strategy for the campaign, ensuring maximum impact in the village.

Execution of the Cleanliness Drive

The drive commenced with volunteers dividing into focused teams. The activities included:

- Waste Collection and Segregation: Teams systematically collected non-biodegradable waste (plastics, wrappers) from main pathways, common grounds, and drainage areas. Collected waste was segregated into recyclable and non-recyclable categories.
- Cleaning of Public Spaces: Special attention was given to cleaning areas near the village well/water source, the community center, and the local temple, which are high-traffic zones.
- Infrastructure Tidy-up: Minor maintenance work, such as clearing overgrown weeds and debris, was also undertaken to improve accessibility and safety.

Awareness Campaign: Wellness and Sanitation

Following the physical cleanliness drive, an interactive awareness session was organized for the local residents. The key message delivered by the Rover Rangers focused on the importance of cleaning for mental and physical wellness.

- Physical Health: Volunteers explained how stagnant water leads to mosquito breeding and disease (Dengue, Malaria), and how proper waste disposal prevents the spread of bacterial infections.
- Mental Wellness: The session emphasized that a clean, organized, and aesthetically pleasing environment significantly reduces stress, improves mood, and promotes a sense of peace and pride within the community, directly contributing to mental health.
- Sustainable Practices: The Rangers demonstrated simple techniques for home waste composting and urged villagers to commit to avoiding the use of single-use plastics and ensuring regular cleaning of household surroundings.

The villagers participated actively, engaging in discussions and seeking clarification on best practices for domestic waste management. The cleanliness and awareness drive in Saravnati Village was highly effective in achieving its goals. The physical environment of the village showed marked improvement, and, more importantly, the community was sensitized to the inseparable link between a clean environment and holistic well-being.

The GDC Majheen Rover Ranger Unit has set a commendable example of civic engagement under the inspirational guidance of Dr. Chandan Bhardwaj, reinforcing the institution's dedication to both academic and social service.

FLASH MOB

As per letter number HFW-KGR/NACP/2024/-1873-2021, an awareness activity Flash Mob was organized by the Red Ribbon Club volunteers of Government Degree College Majheen at Government Senior Secondary School Majheen on 26th September 2024 at 12.45pm. It was organized under the able guidance of Principal Dr. Chandan Bhardwaj.

The volunteers used songs to explain the content. They focused on four causes responsible for the spread of HIV/ AIDS. These causes include unprotected sexual activity, untested blood transfusion, from pregnant mother to her child and reuse of needles for injection. As the volunteers used school campus for performance so main focus was laid on spread of HIV through injection which is very common among youngsters as they use the same needle for taking drugs (injectibles). This event was witnessed by all school students as it was performed during lunch break. The volunteers also advised the audience to stay away from tattoo craze as the tattoo artists use the same needle again and again. Main message was conveyed in a very impressive way as it showed the end result i.e. the person feels unwell and grows week day by day. Friend still advise him/her to continue the intake of drugs. At last, he/she realizes the importance of life and the fellow goes for testing and being tested HIV positive, feels isolated and ignored as the friends segregate him/her. Then comes the role of individual and society to rehabilitate the patient .The students conveyed the message to treat HIV/AIDS in empathetic manner as they need to be treated with love, care and affection.

storage toys, clocks and heart pacemakers. When the life of these items ends, then it is called electronic waste. As written earlier, batteries of all the items mentioned above contain Lithium, PC chips and circuit board. Earlier batteries contained Lithium and Cobalt. At present, India is dependent on China for these minerals.

Then he discussed about the dependence of India on China. He shared that rarer minerals are found in China. He further added in Kolar Gold Field Mines we need to do one ton extraction for 1 gram gold. For 100 grams of silver, we need to extract 1 ton of content and for 20 kg copper one ton extraction is needed. Simply means all these are very expensive. Along with other elements gold and copper are found in these batteries. Then the talk turned towards employment generation. Two kilogram battery shreds contain black mass almost of Rs 800/- Importance of recycling in the field of employment generation and e-waste management was elaborated. Importance of dismantling and segregation was discussed as after following these two steps, e-waste collector can get good amount. He further added that a windmill means 230Kg rare earth, a solar panel's intact glass has 20-25 years of life but it can be reused as it has purest Silicon which means value. In a circular economy, recycling exist for betterment of all. He acquainted the students with the concept of dry cell batteries , which are of no value as they cannot be recycled.

SWOT (Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats) were explained in the simplest possible way. He explained the term in two parts i.e.SW means internal factors as they are related to strengths and weaknesses and OT means external factors and in order to understand the scope in any business including e-waste management ,we should analyze these four factors.

The lecture highlighted global and local e-waste regulations, emphasizing the importance of producer responsibility organizations (PROs) and take-back programs .He laid emphasis on public awareness and role of individuals. The importance of consumer awareness and responsible disposal habits was stressed. Practical advice was provided, such as using designated e-waste collection points and supporting companies with sustainable practices.

An Awareness Lecture on Side Effects of Drug Abuse

An insightful awareness lecture on drug abuse among the young generation was delivered by Sh. Pankaj Sood, Principal of Government College Rakkar on 21st December 2024. It was organized under the able guidance of Principal Dr. Chandan Bhardwaj. Addressing the students, he highlighted the seriousness of drug abuse, explaining that it is not just a personal problem but a growing social threat that affects families, communities, and the entire nation. He began by explaining what drug abuse means and how easily it traps young minds. He stressed that teenagers and college-going students are highly vulnerable due to emotional instability, curiosity, and lack of awareness. He discussed in detail the various causes of drug abuse among youth. One of the major reasons is peer pressure, where young people get influenced by friends or companions and try drugs to look “cool” or to fit in. Family issues, such as lack of communication, emotional gaps, or parental neglect, also push youngsters toward harmful substances. Academic stress, competition, unemployment, and hopelessness were also mentioned as key reasons. He pointed out that easy access to drugs and misleading portrayals in films, songs, and online platforms also contribute to increasing cases of drug abuse. He emphasized that mental health issues like depression, anxiety, and loneliness further make youngsters more prone to drug addiction.

He explained about various substances commonly misused by young people. These include alcohol and tobacco, which are socially accepted but can cause serious long-term harm. He also warned against cannabis products like marijuana and hashish, which are wrongly considered harmless by some youngsters. Opioids such as heroin, morphine, and opium were described as highly addictive and extremely dangerous. Synthetic drugs like ecstasy and LSD, along with inhalants such as glue or paints, are often used secretly by teenagers and can cause severe physical and psychological damage. He also mentioned the misuse of prescription drugs like sleeping pills or anti-anxiety medicines without medical supervision.

He advised students to recognize the warning signs of addiction among peers or even themselves. These signs include sudden changes in behavior, mood swings, falling academic performance, isolation from family and friends, financial issues, or frequent health problems like weight loss and sleep disturbances. He also spoke about the dangerous consequences of drug abuse. He explained that prolonged use of drugs can lead to severe damage to the brain, heart, liver, and other organs. Drug addiction results in mental illnesses, such as schizophrenia and depression, and also increases the risk of accidents and crimes. He urged the students to understand that addiction not only affects the user but also destroys families and damages the social fabric of the community. During the lecture, practical remedies and preventive measures were also discussed. He stressed the need for strong family bonds and open communication at home. He advised parents and teachers to closely monitor the activities and behavior of students. He encouraged students to keep themselves engaged in positive activities like sports, reading, arts, and social work. The importance of counseling and professional help was also emphasized. He suggested that students should immediately seek medical and psychological assistance if they or anyone they know is struggling with addiction.

In his concluding remarks, Sh. Pankaj Sood encouraged students to adopt a healthy lifestyle and take a pledge to stay away from all forms of drugs. He also called upon them to act as ambassadors of change by spreading awareness among their friends, families, and the wider community. The session was highly interactive, and many students raised questions to clear their doubts. The lecture left a strong impact, making students more aware of the dangers of drug abuse and the importance of making responsible choices in life.

Awareness Lecture on Sexual Harassment for Freshers

An Awareness Lecture on Sexual Harassment for Freshers (B.A. and B.Com.1st Year students) was organized at Government Degree College Majheen, Tehsil Khundian District Kangra (H.P.) on 2nd August 2024. It was organized under the able guidance of Principal Dr. Chandan Bhardwaj.

This awareness lecture was delivered by Prof. Aarti Gupta. She started the session in an interactive manner. The students were asked about the place and status of women in society and inside homes. They were motivated to share their own experiences related to society.

Then Aarti Gupta defined the word 'Sexual Harassment'. She gave different examples from various contexts to explain the term in the best possible way. She also discussed about various incidents happening around us where females try to avoid or ignore the unwanted behavior of others as they feel uneasy and embarrassed. They feel that if this unwanted behavior of their acquaintances becomes an open secret, it can create a problem for them. So this societal fear makes them uneasy and they simply bear this mental and physical torture. The students were encouraged either to object themselves or to report the issue to their parents or to Police. If any unwanted incident occurs during campus working hours, they were advised to report it in writing to the Women Redressal Cell constituted in college campus. Toll free number 1091 was shared with them. Details of various free women safety apps were shared like Raksha, My Safetipin, Disha SOS, Himmat Plus, 112 India, SHEROES, bSafe, etc. They were encouraged to raise their voice against these social evils.

A notice for the selection of Gender Champion/ Champions was displayed on 16 August 2024. Two girls namely Tamanna and Bharti gave their name before 15th September 2024. Both have good academic record and can express themselves but only Tamanna possesses good communication skills. So she was selected as Gender Champions for 2024-25. She was given material required to spread the message of gender equality. She was trained to share her views on gender equality to make our institution a place where gender equality prevails. She shared her views with all the students on 15th Feb. and on 23rd February 2025. She laid emphasis on the values of life which are equally important for all. Her talk mainly focused on those women who are successful in this gender biased world as they have proved that gender is a social construct and it has nothing to do with one's abilities. She talked about both the aspects of gender biased world as here men and women bear the burden loaded by the society. We know well that life skill are equally important for all even then if a male wants to be a part of the household chores managed by his wife, his own family members restrict him . She laid emphasis on equality which is a state of mind where none points a female by saying that being girl you are inefficient to perform certain tasks which are assigned by society to males only. She quoted various examples like Kiran Bedi, Kalpna Chawla, Sunita Williams and countless others who are successfully performing their duty in the fields traditionally meant for male. At last, she concluded with very positive lines with an urge to have a gender bias free world.

Yoga Session for Mental Fitness

CII-29

A special yoga session focusing on mental health and the development of critical thinking skills was organized at Government Degree College Majheen on 19th December 2024.

It was organized under the guidance of Principal Dr. Chandan Bhardwaj. The session aimed to help students manage academic stress, improve concentration, and enhance clarity of thought through simple, practical yogic techniques. This session was conducted by Prof. Muktamani. The program began with a brief introduction to the connection between yoga and mental well-being. She explained how regular practice of breathing exercises, mindful stretching and relaxation techniques can improve emotional stability and cognitive functioning.

Students actively participated in a series of pranayama practices such as Anulom-Vilom, Bhramari and deep-breathing exercises. These were followed by light yoga postures designed to relax the body and improve focus. The resource person also conducted a short mindfulness activity that encouraged students to observe their thoughts, reason calmly and think more critically during challenging situations. The session helped students understand how a balanced mind supports logical reasoning, better decision-making and problem-solving. Students shared positive feedback, stating that the activities made them feel relaxed, refreshed and more confident. Dr. Chandan Bhardwaj appreciated the efforts of Prof. Muktamani and encouraged students to incorporate yoga into their daily routine for better mental health and sharper thinking abilities. Choral Singing

Choral singing emerged as one of the best practices adopted at Government Degree College Majheer during the academic session 2024–25. Several choral singing sessions were organized throughout the year with active participation from students and teachers, creating a vibrant, inclusive, and disciplined cultural environment within the campus.

The idea of introducing choral singing as a regular practice was initiated by the worthy Principal, Dr. Chandan Bhardwaj, with the objective of promoting holistic development among students. Under his able guidance, choral singing was not confined to a single event but was practiced repeatedly during various academic and co-curricular occasions. Prof. Lucky played a significant role in motivating and encouraging students to associate themselves with choral singing and to participate wholeheartedly in these sessions. Choral singing has proved to be immensely beneficial for the college community. Regular participation in group singing helped students improve their focus and concentration, as it requires attention to rhythm, lyrics, pitch, and coordination with fellow singers. This practice enhanced students' listening skills and discipline, which positively reflected in their academic performance as well.

From the perspective of mental health, choral singing acted as a powerful stress-relieving activity. Singing in a group created a sense of emotional release, reduced anxiety, and promoted inner calm. It fostered positivity, joy, and emotional balance among students, helping them cope better with academic pressure and personal challenges. The collective experience of singing strengthened feelings of belongingness and social bonding.

Choral singing also contributed to the development of team spirit, cooperation, and mutual respect. Students learned to work together, support one another, and value collective effort over individual performance. This practice enhanced confidence, self-expression, and communication skills, especially among shy and introverted students.

Additionally, choral singing nurtured cultural awareness and aesthetic sense by exposing students to patriotic songs, devotional music, and socially relevant themes. It instilled values such as unity, harmony, discipline, and respect for diversity.

In conclusion, choral singing during the session 2024–25 proved to be a highly effective and meaningful best practice at GDC Majheen. The initiative taken by Principal Dr. Chandan Bhardwaj and the continuous motivation provided by Prof. Lucky played a pivotal role in making this practice successful. The activity not only enriched the cultural life of the college but also significantly contributed to the mental, emotional, and social well-being of students and staff. The college intends to continue and further strengthen this practice in the coming years.

Er. Sanjeev Vats interacted with students and faculty. He delivered an insightful lecture on key life skills necessary to achieve career options. He discussed about the professional success, which is not solely achieved by academic qualifications but also by some skills and attitudes. Their discussion moved around the difference between Indian and Western concept of education. He discussed about prioritization, effective communication skills, active listening, empathy and analytical skills. He used examples from real world scenarios to demonstrate problem solving approaches. He laid emphasis on the importance to set career goals and fix priorities to achieve set goals.

Students were curious to know the difference between Indian and Western concept. According to him, Western and Indian education systems have distinct strengths and weaknesses, which reflect their cultural, historical and social influences. According to him, Indian education system lays strong emphasis on mathematics, science discipline and authority. Rote learning is also a part of this system. Main emphasis is laid on theory with minimal practical learning. Western education system encourages sports, arts and extracurricular activities, promotes critical thinking, innovation and problem solving. Main emphasis is laid on practical and hands on learning. Education is at times expensive. He shared his personal life experiences with the students and faculty. He advised all to learn something new every day as the goal of education is to empower individuals. All these points were discussed in detail and this discussion became interactive. This session concluded with the vote of thanks to Er. Sanjeev Vats by Prof. Mohini.

Amar Ujala 10th December 2024

A lecture on burning topic of e-waste management with a focus on lithium batteries was delivered by Dr. Ajay Kaushal. Main aim of this event was to shed light on the rising environmental concerns due to the improper disposal of electronic waste, particularly lithium-ion batteries, and to explore sustainable management practices to raise awareness about the growing concerns regarding e-waste, specifically focusing on discarded cell phone batteries. The session aimed at understanding the environmental impacts of e-waste, the importance of recycling, and its potential to generate employment to raise awareness about the growing concerns regarding e-waste, specifically focusing on discarded cell phone batteries.

Dr. Ajay Kaushal explained that Lithium-ion batteries are widely used in consumer electronics like smart phones, laptops, digital cameras, wireless headphones, electric vehicles, electric vehicles, mobility aids (scooters, wheelchairs and e-bikes), solar power storage toys, clocks and heart pacemakers. When the life of these items ends, then it is called electronic waste. As written earlier, batteries of all the items mentioned above contain Lithium, PC chips and circuit board. Earlier batteries contained Lithium and Cobalt. At present, India is dependent on China for these minerals.

Then he discussed about the dependence of India on China. He shared that rarer minerals are found in China. He further added in Kolar Gold Field Mines we need to do one ton extraction for 1 gram gold. For 100 grams of silver, we need to extract 1 ton of content and for 20 kg copper one ton extraction is needed. Simply means all these are very expensive. Along with other elements gold and copper are found in these batteries.

Then the talk turned towards employment generation. Two kilogram battery shreds contain black mass almost of Rs 800/- Importance of recycling in the field of employment generation and e-waste management was elaborated. Importance of dismantling and segregation was discussed as after following these two steps, e-waste collector can get good amount. He further added that a windmill means 230Kg rare earth, a solar panel's intact glass has 20-25 years of life but it can be reused as it has purest Silicon which means value. In a circular economy, recycling exist for betterment of all. He acquainted the students with the concept of dry cell batteries, which are of no value as they cannot be recycled.

SWOT (Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats) were explained in the simplest possible way. He explained the term in two parts i.e. SW means internal factors as they are related to strengths and weaknesses and OT means external factors and in order to understand the scope in any business including e-waste management, we should analyze these four factors.

The lecture highlighted global and local e-waste regulations, emphasizing the importance of producer responsibility organizations (PROs) and take-back programs. He laid emphasis on public awareness and role of individuals. The importance of consumer awareness and responsible disposal habits was stressed. Practical advice was provided, such as using designated e-waste collection points and supporting companies with sustainable practices to reduce the extraction of raw material and conserving natural resources. It minimizes environmental damage caused by improper disposal, helps in the recovery of valuable materials like lithium and cobalt, which can be reused in manufacturing. The lecture included examples of countries like Sweden and Japan, which have implemented efficient e-waste recycling systems. These nations serve as models for integrating environmental sustainability with economic growth.

The lecture underscored the urgent need for collective action involving governments, industries, and consumers to address the growing e-waste challenge. The integration of innovative recycling technologies, stricter policies, and active public participation can pave the way for a sustainable future. The session concluded with an engaging interaction where participants shared their concerns and ideas, making it a thought-provoking and educational experience for all.
